Prahran Market and Rotary are getting 'crafty' on Sundays

For Immediate Release

A weekly Sunday craft market will start late February 2012 at Prahran Market.

This craft market is a joint venture between Prahran Market and the Stonnington Rotary Cluster and will run every Sunday between 10am and 3pm, along Elizabeth Street at the back of the Market.

Shoppers will be delighted with the wide range of local crafts, jewellery, vintage clothing and artwork that the market will have to offer.

"The Sunday Craft Market is going to be a popular addition to Prahran Market and will be a great asset to the community as a whole", said Mr Christopher young, Prahran Market's General Manager.

"Not only will regular Prahran Market shoppers continue to enjoy their Sunday grocery shop, they will now also have the opportunity to browse through local artisan products".

"The craft market will also encourage more visitors into the Chapel Street and Commercial Road precincts as a whole", said Mr Young.

The Sunday Craft Market will also complement Prahran Market's current Sunday offerings, including free Sunday Jazz sessions and face-painting in Market Square.

If you are interested in having a stall at the Sunday Craft Market, please visit www.prahranmarket.com.au for more information and to complete an 'Expression of Interest' Form.

Market hours: Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday 7am-5pm, Friday 7am-6pm, Sunday 10am-3pm

Parking: Parking available at public car park at the rear of the Market

About Prahran Market

Prahran Market is Australia's oldest continuously running market. Prahran Market is recognised as one of Melbourne's premier markets and arguably Melbourne's finest food market and is known colloquially as "The Food Lovers Market".
